Teaching Philosophy

Dear Golfer,

The first step in reaching your goals is taking an assessment of where you are currently at, setting goals of where you want to be, analyzing your strengths and weaknesses, and developing a strategic game plan to achieve your goals. To achieve your goals, we must look at the following aspects of your game:

Full Swing, Short Game, Putting, Course Management,
Current Equipment, & Physical Characteristics.

The Full Swing Evaluation, Physical Screen, and Interview is a 60-minute session. During the interview portion, we will discuss the current state of your game referencing the areas above; we will discuss current strengths and frustrations you have, what main areas you want to focus on improving, and your overall goals.

After the interview portion, we will see what physical characteristics you have that are affecting your swing by performing a physical screen. We will see your body's current strengths, abilities, and limitations, as well as discuss options if you wish to improve in certain areas.

Armed with this information, we will then begin your swing evaluation. I will introduce you to the technology I utilize, watch you hit shots, analyze your swing, and together we will review your full swing and build a game plan for improvement.

After completing the interview, physical screen, and swing evaluation, I will make a recommendation for a lesson-package that will best meet your needs and help you achieve your golfing goals.

If you decide to move forward with lessons after the evaluation, that is great. If you feel that more lessons are not for you, that is perfectly OK too.

I look forward to helping every student achieve their golfing goals. Here is to hard work, future success, and complete enjoyment of the entire process!
